Origin: Coco Cavalli's sire, Cheenook (deceased) by Caretino, completed his stallion performance test in Medigen in 1991 as a performance-class 1 stallion, 3rd in his age group.

He has participated in the Federal German Dressage Championship and was trained to the Grand Prix level. His progeny are highly successful in both competition Dressage and Jumping. His daughter, Cyrenaika, won the Hanoverian Show Jumping Championships and the 6-year-old Federal Championships. Another daughter, Cindy Crawford, won 2nd place and became vice champion in the 6-year-old Federal Championships and continued on to become an international show jumper for Piet Raymakers of Holland.

Performance Record: Coco Cavalli is one of 2 approved sons of Cheenook and is equally talented in both dressage and jumping. In Germany as a very young competition horse, he won classes in both disciplines. Since emigrating to the US he has won dressage classes with scores to the mid 73% at Prix St Georges and currently has won at Grand Prix. In 2006 he was 1st in the Oldenburg standing at Inter 1 and in 2007 he was standing in 2nd place. He did not show in 2008. This lovely grey Oldenburg stallion has very correct foundations and 3 brilliant gaits with enormous expression, and to quote Robert Dover "Coco shows wonderful talent for the passage/piaffe tour and you will see that he is a very interesting horse to watch for future competition." His conformation is without peer and his temperament and character in trainability and concentration are not to be surpassed. His kindness, forwardness and lightness in hand, combined with a huge desire to please combined with his extraordinary gaits make him one of the most sought after stallions available

Breeding/Progeny Record: All Coco Cavalli's eligible foals have received premiums. His oldest colt is a stallion prospect with his sires superb gaits and temperament. His foals are compact, with exceptionally good walks, trots and canters with much suspension.
