Origin: The Westphalian stallion Pilot (1974-1991) started an incomparable career in his day as a procreator of showjumpers and was the youngest progeny winnings millionaire of German stallions. His best known stallion sons today are Pit I, Pluspunkt (full-brother of P.S. Priamos), Phantom and Pinocchio. Pilot had a powerful impact on horse breeding far beyond the borders of Westphalia, with just about every German warmblood breed making use of his genotype. The dam, Anja, was awarded with the Westphalian Breeder's Association premium and was show winner a number of times. She derives from Angriff, who was one of the most significant sons of the magnificent thoroughbred, Angelo xx. Then in the third generation, there is the procreator of showjumpers, Argwohn I, who was the most important son by far, of the Hanoverian, Argus. Argwohn I became the sire of Aramis, who had resounding showjumping successes with Klaus Reinacher and Franke Sloothaak for many years, before continuing his career in the USA. He furthermore produced the powerful jumper, Argot, who had extra-ordinary showjumping successes with Ulrich Kirchhoff and Elmar Gundel.

Performance Record: Pilox absolved his stallion performance test in Warendorf in 1994, with way above average scores in the forefront of his age-class. Following wins in showjumper competitions, he had successes at Federal Championship level in showjumping and was also victorious in the advanced class.

Breeding/Progeny Record: Pilox has proven himself an outstanding stallion, producing foals that are graceful and well-conformed, and that often show similar color characteristics to their sire. Pilox has sired multiple breed show winners including the elegant Highlife's Patriot, who at three months won the GOV class at Dressage at Devon with an overall score of 80.9. Also at Devon, Highlife's Patriot placed 3rd in the colts of 2006 class, with an overall score of 82.7 and a phenomenal score of 8.5 for his trot. Prezioso S, also sired by Pilox, qualified for the Bundeschampionat in 2001 and 2002, winning material classes and seeing multiple successes in the showjumping arena. Prezioso S stood his first year at stud at Highlife Farms in 2003, where he has produced a number of elegantly built, even-tempered foals. Prezioso S has competed at HITS and WEF, placing 1st & 2nd in the Level 6 showjumping arena, and receiving Circuit Champion titles.
